

Contents

Acknowledgment	ix
1 Introduction	1
State-Funded Training Programs	2
purpose of This Book	4
2 A Policy History of ETP	7
Pay for Performance Shapes the Program	7
Funding Priorities: A Moving Target	9
How, and How Much, To Pay for Training	13
Notes	16
3 A Theoretical Perspective on the Participants in State Training Programs	17
Individual Workers: “Show Me the Money!”	17
Companies: An Investor’s Perspective	20
The Training Consultant: The Hidden Hand	26
Government Agencies	33
4 Training Outcomes: Impact on the Trainees	35
The Impact on Earnings, Unemployment, and Employment Stability	36
Notes	60
5 ETP at Work: A Qualitative Examination of the Delivery of ETP Training and Its Impact on Trainees	63
Research Methods	64
An ETP Training Model	70
Field Research	78
Overall Impact of Training on Trainees	107
Impact of Training on Productivity	108
Impact of Training on Work Environment	110
Institutional Arrangements	112
Potential Training Effectiveness by Contract Type	117
What We Learned	122
Notes	123
6 Impact on Companies	125
Case Studies of the Impact of ETP-Funded Training on Company Performance	126
Statistical Analysis of the Impact of Training on Company Growth	140

7 The Economic Impact of ETP Training	153
The Training Outcomes and Their Economic Benefits	154
Notes	171
8 Recommendations	173
Recommendations for Policymakers	173
Methodology Recommendations for Evaluators	182
Appendix A: Characteristics of Customized Training Programs, 1998–1999	197
References	201
The Authors	205
Index	207
About the Institute	219

Figures

4.1 Industry Distribution for All California Workers and Trainees	41
4.2 California Unemployment Rate, 1986–1999	42
4.3 Real Hourly Earnings in California, 1986–1999 (1995 dollars)	43
4.4 Percentage Completing Training	44
4.5a Labor Force Participation by Quarter, 1989–1990 Groups	46
4.5b Labor Force Participation by Quarter, 1990–1991 Groups	47
4.5c Labor Force Participation by Quarter, 1991–1992 Groups	48
4.5d Labor Force Participation by Quarter, 1992–1993 Groups	49
4.6a Average Number of Employers by Quarter, 1989–1990 Groups	56
4.6b Average Number of Employers by quarter, 1990–1991 Groups	57
4.6c Average Number of Employees by Quarter, 1991–1992 Groups	58
4.7 Employment Instability in the Year Before and After Training	59
5.1 Training Impact Model	70
5.2 Strong Positive Feedback	76
5.3 Moderate Positive Feedback	76
5.4 Negative Feedback	77

5.5	Potential Gains	78
5.6	Quality of Training	80
5.7	Trainee Ratings of Quality	87
5.8	Amount Trainees Reports Learning	90
5.9	Management Reinforcement of Training	97
5.10	Frequency Trainees Reported Using Skills	108
5.11	Impact on Productivity Trainees Reported	109
5.12	Relationship of Amount Learned and Skill Use to Impact on Productivity	110
5.13	Work Environment Changes Trainees Reported	111
5.14	Distribution of Trainees by Contract Type	114
5.15	Training Impact Model	117

Tables

4.1	Trainee Type Breakdown	35
4.2	Trainee Earnings Results	52
4.3	Trainee Unemployment Results	55
5.1	Fieldwork Company Sample	65
5.2	Regression Results for Quality Measures and Training Impact	89
5.3	Regression Results for Work Environment and Productivity	112
5.4	Training Effectiveness by Type of Training Contract	115
5.5	Trainee-Reported Quality and Amount Learned, by Contract Type	122
6.1	Trainees and Controls by Industry	127
6.2	Pre-Training Comparison of ETP Firms and Industry Controls	146
6.3	Growth of ETP Firms and Industry Controls Through First Year of Training	147
6.4	Pre-Training Comparison of ETP Firms by Contract Type	149
6.5	Growth of ETP Firms Though First Year After Training by Contract Type	150
6.6	Pre-Training Comparison of ETP Firms by Percent Trained	151
6.7	Growth of ETP Firms by Percent Trained Through First Year After Training	152
7.1	Training Outcomes and Economic Benefits	155
7.2	ETP Impact on the California Economy	155

viii Contents

7.3	UI Savings Attributable to Retraining	158
7.4	Earnings Impact	159
7.5	Indirect Effects	165
7.6	Breakdown by Displacement Threat	167
7.7	Average UI Weeks Claimed	168
7.8	UI Fund Savings Attributable to Saving Jobs	169
A.1	Characteristics of Customized Training Programs, 1998–1999	198